Wireless Broadband: Jackson, Mississippi

Jackson's Challenges

- Jackson, Mississippi is currently ranked 80th on Forbes List of 200 Best Places for Business and Careers. There is still more work to be done
- Improve the quality of life by:
 - reducing crime
 - decreasing unemployment and poverty
 - increasing tax base by attracting new residents and businesses
- Only 20% of Mississippians have access to broadband at home - half the national average and the lowest of any state

M2Z's Solutions

- Universal broadband access will provide Jackson with a competitive advantage to attract new companies and residents
- Family-friendly broadband will allow children to utilize the Internet safely expanding educational opportunity
- Public safety officers need reliable, interoperable communications networks to keep our communities safe
- Increase city revenues through increased demand for city resources such as towers and fiber

M2Z's Public Interest Commitments:

- Free wireless broadband access to 95 percent of the American population within 10 years
- Make the service family-friendly by filtering indecent content at the network level
- Free, priority, and preemptive access for first responders during emergencies
- Pay 5percent of premium subscription revenues to the U.S. Treasury
- Build the nationwide network using only private capital and without taking Universal Service Funds

M2Z Networks is in advanced discussion with the city of Jackson to provide wireless broadband access by the end of 2008
